The University of North Carolina Asheville

Who Joins Honors?

Engaged in scholarship, campus life, and the greater Asheville community, Honors students value education and strive to create a better society. If you are a self-motivated learner who understands the value of challenging classes and are willing to give your time and talents to a greater cause, you will find a fantastic community within the Honors Program.

What Will I Do?

- participate in enriching co-curricular and extracurricular activities
 - have access to funding to support experiential learning
 - forge strong relationships with outstanding faculty
 - interact with distinguished campus visitors
 - travel in the United States and abroad

How Do I Join?

Incoming, first-year students are admitted to the Honors Program based on their application to UNC Asheville.
